

Visiting Artist Workshop

The Year Three/Four class have enjoyed their Art Workshops with Mrs Helen Ansell. At start of the lessons we viewed all of Mrs Ansell's photographs of wildflowers around the Mullewa area and then chose our favourite to sketch. We learnt about the placement and size of our wildflower on the page. After sketching our good copy onto watercolour paper, some of us chose to paint our wildflower and others chose to colour it with pencil. Our pieces of work are going to be framed and hung in an exhibition down at the Town Hall during the Wildflower Show.

My favourite flower is the blue cornflower. It grows in the bush. Their stems grow high. The flowers are small.

Thomas Knight – Blue Cornflower

I like the blue cornflower because it looks like it turns from blue, then lighter to purple.

Latisha Exell - Cornflower

My flower is called a Milkmaid. I chose this colour because of the colours of the whites and especially because it stands out.

Laney Critch – Milkmaid

I like the colours. It goes from dark to light and it has black and yellow and light yellow, and a little of light black in the middle.

Charli Harvey – Blue Cornflower

I like my flower because it's a purple reddish colour and this flower does not grow in Mullewa.

Riley Curtis – Blue Cornflower

The flower that I chose is called an everlasting. They have long thin petals that come in dark pinks, light pinks, dark yellow and the most common colour is white. I have seen these flowers near my house on the Pindar-Tardun Road.

Sahara Flannagan - Everlastings

I like the flowers because it looks like a cactus. It looks like it has block leaves. It looks like the flower has claws and egg shells. It looks like it is under the ocean.

Willie Rowe – Native Pomegranate

My flower is called a blue cornflower. I like the different blue and yellow shadings in it. I have seen these flowers before but in white. The petals feel like plastic.

Bella Low – Blue Cornflower

I chose my flower because I love the different colours and the reddy pink is beautiful. I think the green in the middle is also pretty and delicate because it goes well with the reddy pink.

Cooper Messina – Wreathflower

I chose this flower because on the end of the flower it has a little pink and white tip and all the stems it have yellow and black on the end. I also like it because the flower has a different shade of pinks and purple and different shades of green.

Angus Critch – Pink Bottlebrush or Pink Grevillea

I picked the Yellow Wattle. It looks fascinating in the bush and has a very unusual shape. My favourite part of this wildflower would have to be its unique shape and different colours, bright yellow and a light, but bright green.

Sofie Weir – Yellow Wattle

I chose this flower because of the colour. It is actually a mixture of two colours which are blue and purple. The puffy middle is soft and delicate.

Kaiyne Lincoln – Blue Cornflower

I chose the Everlasting because there a lot of them around my farm and they come in lots of different colours and it feels very papery and delicate and like a velvet feeling.

Lachlan Rowe - Everlastings
